

Dear Kim,

I just wanted to thank you again for the tremendous effort you put into the ARCTIC TALE Chill Out Event last July. We were so pleased by how everything turned out. We attribute much of that to your dedication to the event. Your quick response to questions as well as anticipating our needs made the planning and execution so much easier. This enabled my team to focus on other tasks for the event. In addition, the final reports and media coverage analysis you provided was an unexpected surprise. It was truly rewarding to know how successful our event was in part by your efforts. We could not have asked for a better partner for such an event. From email blasting to contacting press you took care of everything we needed!

This was one of my first experiences working on such a promotions event of this scale and you and your staff made the execution so easy. Thanks to your efforts we were able to achieve greater results than we ever thought possible.

I hope we will be able to collaborate on more projects in the future!

Best,
